

GERMANS RETIRE IN THE EAST

PETROGRAD REPORTS GENERAL
FALLING BACK OF KAISER'S FORCES.

QUIET IN WEST ARENA

Paris Says Numerous Artillery Attacks Were Repulsed Along Line.

WAR SUMMARY.

(Associated Press.)
London, Nov. 18.—Today's war news, which is very meagre, indicates little of the progress of the battles in the eastern and western theaters of war.

BERLIN MAKES CLAIMS.

Berlin says that the enemy's attacks along the western bank of the Meuse have been completely broken down; while new battles have developed in Poland and South Lodz.

ENEMY DRIVEN BACK

Berlin also reports that no decision has yet been reached southeast of Soldau and that on the extreme western wing the enemy has been driven back.

ATTACKS REPULSED.

Paris reports that there were numerous artillery duels yesterday and some infantry attacks in which the enemy was repulsed.

GERMANS RETIRE.

Petrograd reports that the Germans are retiring along the whole east Prussian front.

RETURN TO PARIS.

The French government is preparing for an early return to Paris from Bordeaux, where it was removed when the Germans threatened Paris.

BELGRADE IN DANGER.

The fall of Belgrade, Serbia, is again reported imminent.

TERRIFIC FIGHTING OF UNEXAMPLED VIOLENCE.

Paris, Nov. 18.—A Petrograd dispatch says: "Terrific fighting of unexampled violence has been proceeding for days around Soldau. The Russians are throwing themselves at the Germans with indescribable fury.
In spite of the torrential rains and the quagmire the Russians are advancing into the interior of Germany."

London, Nov. 18.—That the British government has decided to declare copper contraband of war was perhaps the most salient point in Premier Asquith's statement in the house of commons. The next was certainly that the whole of the North sea would in future be considered to be within the military area and that any alien ships captured on neutral ships would be regarded as prisoners of war and would as such be detained.

The Premier's reference to the German use of mines was listened to with breathless interest in a house unexpectedly crowded in view of the large number of members absent at the wars.

The Germans, he insisted, had entirely ignored questions of military or naval necessity in their anxiety to insure British trade. Unheeding territorial limits they indiscriminately scattered mines about the North sea without any warning to neutrals and quite regardless whether neutral ships were sent to the bottom. These mines again were not constructed in accordance with the rulings of international law in such a way that ternal revenue inspector for this district, was in Dixon today calling on the business men who are affected by the new war revenue taxes, and of the new law. Readers of the Telegraph were given an outline of the features of the new law as applied to Dixon interests several days ago.

City Of Oregon Wins Suit Over I.N.U. Injunction

Appellate Court Dissolves Enjoining Bill-City
Can Fix Dam

The litigation involving the city of Oregon and the Illinois Northern Utilities and likewise the fate of the Oregon water power, reached a new stage, when a decision was rendered by the appellate court at Ottawa permitting the city to proceed with repairs to the dam.

For nearly a year past the city has been restrained under injunction process from effecting repairs to the dam
but recently Circuit Judge O. E.
Heard rendered a decision dissolving
the injunction and granting the Utilities Company twenty days, under $7,- 000 bond, in which period to appeal the case. The company took the case to the appellate court and a preliminary step after reaching the higher court, was a petition on the part of the Utilities company asking that the injunction be held in force pending the ultimate decision by the court.

The petition was denied by the appellate court and the injunction dissolved ordered by Judge Heard is sustained. The city is now in position to proceed with the repairing of the dam.

Horse Thief Was Also Deserter From U. S. Army

The young man who stole one of Lee Read's livery outfits two weeks ago and drove it to Chicago and sold it, is a deserter from the United States army and his right name is Roy Jobe instead of John Graves, the name he assumed while working in this vicinity. This information was received by the sheriff's office this morning.

He enlisted in the regular army in March last, in order to keep away

GOOD FELLOWS OF DIXON HAVE STARTED WORK

THIRD ANNUAL CAMPAIGN FOR X-MAS CHEER FOR THOSE UNFORTUNATES.

CASH CONTRIBUTIONS NEEDED

Past Experience Has Shown That Money Can Do the Most Benefit.

Young Men's Branch of Citizen's Association $25
Cash 5
Total $30

This is the start of the third annual campaign of The Evening Telegraph Good Fellow club of Dixon. At a conference yesterday, the Dixon men and women who are actively interested in the gathering of funds and material and distribution of Chris-mas cheer to humble homes, decided that now is the time to start the campaign. Some who knew that the work was about to commence and who wished to give the movement an auspicious start, immediately made donations, with the result that the Goodfellows have already $30 to start their fund.

Cash Most Needed.

Experience in former years has taught the Goodfellow club that what is most needed to carry on their work in a systematic and satisfactory manner is cash, and they have decided to limit their requests for donations to money and non-perishable foodstuffs.
Toys that are new and in good condition are of course very acceptable. A doll, dressed prettily, will bring untold joy to the starved little heart of some little waif.

A dollar does a lot for a little boy or girl. It means warm mittens and stockings; a little candy and a toy.
When shoes are needed, or a sweater, underclothing, or the like, more money is needed. But do not think because some one gives $25 that you must come up to that mark or do nothing. A dollar spells a Merry Christmas for a little kiddie who needs it and hungers for it. You won't deny it to him if you can afford to spare the dollar and if you do a little thinking.

Retiring General Has Plan To Make U.S. Army Larger

Would Increase Standing Army
And Create Reserve
System

(Associated Press.)

Washington, D. C., Nov. 18.—In his final report, Major General Wotherspoon, retired Chief of Staff of the United States Army, outlines a plan which, if adopted, will increase the regular army to 205,000 and create a reserve system that would bring the mobile strength of the army to half a million men for the first line of troops.

Under Gen. Wotherspoon's plan, enlisted men would serve the colors for a short term and then pass into the reserves at periods of five or more years, being at all times under obligations to respond in case of need.
Officers and enlisted men would receive pay only during active service and then called to the colors. The General also advocates that the organized militia be brought up to 300,- 000.

CAPT. REPORTS VESSEL FIRED UPON BY TURKS

NAVY DEPARTMENT OFFICIALLY
INFORMED THAT TENNESSEE WAS SHOT AT.

SEC. DANIELS MAKES STATEMENT

Has Called Upon Captain Decker for Full Report of the Shooting Incident.

(Associated Press.)

Washington, D. C., Nov. 18.—Captain Benton Clark Decker of the United States Cruiser Tennessee today reported to the navy department that while proceeding from Vourlah to Smyrna to make an official call his vessel was fired upon by the Turkish forts.

An earlier dispatch to the department from Ctpa. Decker, received this morning, made no mention of the incident.

May Have Been Cruiser.

The later dispatch from the captain does not state whether it was the cruiser or the launch that was fired upon by the Turkish forts at Smyrna but it is believed to have been the launch.

Daniel's Statement.

Secretary of the Navy Daniel Issued a statement today saying that the American Consul at Smyrna had been anxious for the safety of the consulate there. "The Tennessee," added the secretary "proceeded to and left Vourlah at the request of Ambassador Morgenthau and is now at the harbor of Chios."

Daniels has called upon Captain Decker to forward immediately a full report of the incident.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 18.— Captain Benton Decker of the United States Cruiser Tennessee, a launch of which is reported to have been fired upon by the Turkish forts at Smyrna yesterday, in a dispatch to the navy department, received this morning, reports the arrival of the Tennessee at Chios, Aegean Sea, yesterday.

The dispatch makes no mention of any hostile action against the cruiser or launch, and this is interpreted by the authorities here to indicate that no such action occurred.

It is possible that the launch, through some misunderstanding had attempted to run into Smyrna harbor.

JURY FAILS TO REACH VERDICT

AT 3:30 O'CLOCK THIS AFTER-NOON NO AGREEMENT HAD BEEN REACHED.

OUT TWENTY HOURS

Fate of Emma Hutton and Lillian Byers Placed in Their Hands
at 5:30.

(By Staff correspondent.)
Morrison, Ill., Nov. 18.—The case of the People of the State of Illinois vs. Mrs. Emma Hutton and Miss Lillian Byers, went to the jury which is to determine their guilt or innocence at 5:30 o'clock last night.

Many Bailiffs on Hand.
To prevent anyone getting near the jury room Sheriff Wahl put several bailiffs on the job, and it has been impossible to get close enough to the jury room to hear any of the arguments.

Many Rumors.
Many reports were current about the court house and the city during the morning regarding the standing of the twelve men. Early this morning it was stated that the jury stood 11 to 1 for the conviction of both women on the charge of murder; while a later report was that they stood 7 to 5 on the same proposition.

Stager's Great Address.

Tuesday afternoon Walter Stager,
assistant to States Attorney J. J. Lu-dens, delivered one of the greatest addresses to a jury that has been heard in the Whiteside county circuit court room in many years and so intense was the interest in this that the court room was jammed and hundreds of people stood in the halls and near the court room windows that they might hear the wonderful story that Mr. Stager had to tell the jury.

He dovetailed the stories of the many witnesses for the state and the defense into a clear and complete exposition of the case as seen from the side of the state, and explained to the jury how many of the things alleged by the defense were impossible.

Father Left Room.
As he told the wonderful story the aged father of the two prisoners who was seated on a front seat of the audience, rose from his seat and left the court room.

Lillian Sobbed.
Lillian Byers sat sobbing for some time so that her sobs were clearly audible in every section of the great court room and as Mr. Stager ruthlessly tore down the wall that the defense had erected around the two women in its effort to either save their lives or their liberty the girl's frame shook and shook until it was necessary to take a recess that she might regain her composure.

Lee Hutton, husband of one of the defendants, sat in the court room and listened to the picture painted by the prosecutor in which his wife was shown to be a foul-mouthed demon and shook his head and finally followed her to the jury box.

Emma Composed.
Emma Hutton sat through the trying ordeal like a stone wall as she had done during the entire trial and

STERLING GETS LOWER RATES

Sterling, Nov. 18.—City officials have won a splendid victory in "standing pat" on the electric light and gas proposition, that has been up with the Illinois Northern Utilities Company, and as a result the minimum rate on electric lights is to be 50 cents and on gas $1.15. The new rate goes into effect March 1, 1915.

FOOT BALL GAME
FOR TURKEY DAY

PICKED TEAM OF DIXON PLAYERS
WILL MEET MT. MORRIS
COLLEGE BUNCH.

A number of Dixon young men have organized a football team and have scheduled a game with a Mt. Morris team to be played here on Thanksgiving day. The game will be played at the new Lincoln Park and the field will be marked off and goal posts erected.

The Dixon team will be made up of former and present high school players and old Dixon College players. They have secured a good line up and will commence practicing signals and a number of trick plays which they will spring on the Mt. Morris bunch on "Turkey" day.

The Mt. Morris bunch will have a strong line up including Mac McCosh the former Northwestern University star, who will coach the team and play the quarterback position.

NEWS NOTES FROM STRONG
COLLEGE OF MUSIC.

The attendance this year is the largest in the history of the school. A department in China painting has been organized under the direction of Miss Jean Hitchcock who has been added to the faculty.

Miss Alice Coppins recently gave a violin solo at a concert in Sterling. Miss Katherine Strong will play in a recital in Chicago on Saturday.

Misses Mabel Drew, Ruby Phillips, Nora Gittel, Anna Goble, Gladys Kenage, Enid Wicher and Ethel L. L. have entered for graduating courses.

Miss Alice Herbst is teaching a class at Nachusa, and Miss Ruby Gray at Lee Center.

Among the new pupils are Pauline Adams, Isabel Duffe, Rachael Knapp, Caroline Sittel, Lucile Traubman, Jennie Stockpole, Helen Martinson and Willard Countryman.

Out of town pupils making regular trips for music lessons are Laura Erb, Milledgeville, Florence and Myrtle Hoffman, Sublette; Villa Wells, Lee; Nina Adams, Nelson; Mabel Glenn, Lee Center; Emma Hanes, Polo; Hazel Hart, Nachusa; and Dorothy Lantz, Woosung.

Professor Strong has a class in Sterling on Tuesday evenings.

A series of recitals for all the pupils of the school will be given soon. A large number of graduates are continuing their studies for higher courses.

Frank Salisbury is visiting his parents in Reinbeck, Iowa.

If Dixon does not have concert violinists in the future it will not be the fault of the College of Music. Among the rising young artists are Alice Coppins, John and Clinton Ives, Erman Miller, Gerald Stockpole, and a host of young brilliant piano players.

Improper Ventilation of Coaches Kills Passengers

(Associated Press.)

Washington, D. C., Nov. 17.—More deaths are caused by improper ventilation of train coaches and waiting rooms than by train accidents. The Committee on Railway Service and Railway accommodations so reported to the annual convention of the National Association of Railway Commissioners today.

"The noxious gases that fill the coaches, especially sleeping cars, in connection with the peculiar character of dust therein, is most conducive to germ breeding where proper ventilation is lacking," the committee added.

In regard to the lighting of railway coaches, the committee says this problem has been fairly satisfactorily mastered on the trunk lines but on many branch lines, the dingy, dirty oil lamp is still in evidence. A vigorous campaign against this condition is recommended.

Carelessness in providing drinking water at stations and on trains is noted and it is recommended that the railroad commissions abolish the stationary water cooler, prescribe a cooler with a portable container, uniform methods of cleansing such containers, sanitary methods of handling ice, sanitary drinking cups to be provided free of charge for the public, and to forbid the placing of ice in the receptacle.

Irregularity and failure of suburban trains to arrive and depart on time is the cause of wide complaint, says the committee. Another source of complaint is the lack of adequate service on Sundays. The committee believes that at least one train should operate in each direction as a minimum Sunday service.

The committee recommends the elimination of the practice of paying freight bills carrying manifest overcharges. Delays in handling and settling claims are also condemned, and the committee concludes that the best means of minimizing such delays is to require the railroads to pay interest on the true claim amount from the date the amount of the claim went into their hands.

On the question of substitution of steel for wooden cars, the committee recommends that the Interstate Commerce commission, be given the full power to prescribe the character of the equipment to be used in interstate commerce.

Goose Hollow Special.

Received by night letter from our special correspondent.

Goose Hollow, Nov. 18.—Hank Tumms is in a mighty serious condition at his home, the result of being hit over the head with a gas pipe in the hands of his lovin' wife, Mrs. Tumms. The assault took place at the depot last night just afore the northbound passenger arrive. Hank, according to his affectionate better-half, yesterday heard of a woman in North Dixon who had said she never wore nothin but Hanan shoes, and Hank allowed as how he was goin to see if she was tellin the truth. Mrs. Hank heard of the affair jest in time to nip it in the bud and Hank on the bean.

"Why, me husband's out," replied Mrs. McGuire, "but if ye can find him, anywhere's ye're welcome to him."

NOVEMBER 18 1914

THEN and NOW

Forty-five years ago today Ferdinand de Lesseps, the builder of the Suez canal, in company with Empress Eugenie of France, began the voyage on the "Aigle" through the canal, followed by 68 vessels of various nations. It took them three days to reach Suez at the eastern end, and to the maritime trade of the world. The new canal was only eight meters deep with a bottom width of only 22 meters. Vessels could pass each other only in widely separated crossings, and in Great Bitter lake. Passage for vessels drawing more than 22 feet of water was impossible, and for vessels drawing twenty feet, it was tedious, owing to the danger of grounding. But the canal at once became a great boon to commerce. For the first time the great storehouse of Indian wheat could be drawn on by Europe for bread, for on account of the tropic heat and the weevil, wheat could not be shipped by way of the Cape. Yet on the other hand the large shipment of grain from India has contributed to the causes of frequent famines there. The Canal company charged 10 francs per ton for toll. Though in 1870, 500 vessels used the canal it failed to pay expenses and continued to run behind for some years. The canal from the beginning was neutralized but in 1888 representatives of all the principal nations of Europe met in convention and formally ratified the neutrality. Great Britain reserving the right to declare that this neutrality should not interfere with her control of Egypt.

Today the canal has undergone great improvements. It has an average depth of nine meters and a width of 65 meters at the bottom between Port Stod and the Great Bitter lake and from the lake to Suez an average of 77 1/2 meters. To make these improvements 100,000,000 francs were expended. Had they not been made within the last ten years, the Panama Canal would now take from the Suez canal a great bulk of its trade. The Suez can now pass great steamers drawing a depth of 28 to 29 feet of water and with their search lights they can easily navigate the canal at night and pass each other at many points. The passage is now effected in 16 hours. The improvements entailed an expense that caused the French Canal Company, a large number of whose shares were held by the Khedive of Egypt, to lose control of the canal to the British government. But France, having withdrawn from Egypt in 1904 agreed fully to the stipulation that the canal should be a neutral highway during war as well as during peace. Paid this agreement been in effect in 1898, Spain could have used the canal to attack Dewey. Russia in her war with Japan used the Canal to send her Baltic fleet to the China sea. The canal toll is now $1.20 per ton, the same as that of Panama. In 1912, 5,373 vessels navigated the canal, he total receipts being 139,000,000 francs and the expenses 47,600,000.

GOOD FELLOWS

Are Investigated.

The Goodfellow club does not do promiscuous giving. Every request for help is investigated. Every name on the Goodfellow list is looked up, the Goodfellow investigator calls at the home and interviews the mother and children. We find out what they need most and we use the money in the way to get the most good out of it.

What the Goodfellow committee wants is a list of names of needy persons, young or old—for the most attention is paid to little children, older people who are needy and deserving are taken care of also—and cash donations.

Send in the names and addresses, and what details you can give, of every person you know whom the Goodfellows should help. We also ask poor people to send in their own names. A member of the committee will call to see you. No publicity will be given you and no one will know you have been helped.

No Publicity.

No publicity is given to anyone in the Goodfellow campaign. The unfortunate persons who are helped do not wish their names made known to the public and neither do we publish the names of those who aid in the work unless they wish it. The list of donations will be printed periodically and the names of organizations that give will be printed. Individuals who donate can have their names printed or simply an initial.

The important feature is that the club must have the names of poor people immediately so that the investigators may get their work completed in time, and the club must have donations so as to know how much of a field can be covered.

Take a Family

If you would rather take a personal interest in the work, and, by the way, it is a mighty nice way to do it, let us give you the names and addresses of a family of children (we will have assorted sizes and you may pick your number) and a list of things they need. We will furnish to any responsible party the name of some person or persons who need aid and will tell them what is needed. You get this name and address, do your own Christmas shopping, add what little toys and luxuries you wish to the list of necessities we will furnish, and take them to the given address. You will get more sure Christmas cheer out of such an action as this than anything you could do. Be a Santa Claus to someone who will appreciate it. You will find that you never knew how happy a child can be made with so little cost and effort.

Telephone to this office, No. 5, and ask for the Goodfellow department, if you will take some names. We will register your name and when we get the names that will suit your wants, we will mail them to you with full instructions.

If you care to give money, send it now. If you know of someone who needs and will appreciate help, let us know at once. All communications on this matter should be addressed to the Goodfellow Department, Care of the Dixon Evening Telegraph.

Get the Christmas spirit early this year. It is good for the soul.

On SICK LIST.

Mrs. Charles Swim and child are both ill at their home.

YOU'RE BILIOUS AND COSTIVE!-CASCARETS

TONIGHT! CLEAN YOUR BOWELS
AND END HEADACHES, COLDS
SOUR STOMACH.

Get a 10-cent box now.

Furred tongue, bad colds, indigestion, sallow skin and miserable headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonight will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then to keep their stomach, liver and bowels regulated, and never know a miserable moment. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

Phidian Art Club.

The Phidian Art club was entertained yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Louise Steel on Ottawa avenue, the meeting being one of unusual interest in that an out of town speaker, Miss Bidwell, of Freeport, gave a talk on Spain, the observations being made from personal experiences in that country. Miss Bidwell told of the customs of the country, of the various fete days, of the characteristics of the people and of her work in a girl's school which was recently established and which is doing excellent work toward lifting the standard of education in an illiterate country. The speaker told much concerning the Royal family. One amusing little incident which shows that queens are no different from other women when it comes to compliments was told by Miss Bidwell when she with a friend was walking in the Palace garden and Queen Ena passed in her carriage. Not thinking of the royal lady as anything but Spanish, she said to her friend: "How beautiful she is." In recognition of the remark the queen very graciously bowed and smiled.

Miss Bidwell's delivery is clear simple and direct and her manner altogether charming, which made the afternoon a genuine treat for the Phidians. This talented young lady is interested in charities and is a member of the school board at Freeport. She was educated in Europe and has spent a large part of her life there. She comes from a wealthy family and devoted her time and money to social settlement work. Miss Bidwell returned to her home in Freeport today accompanied by her friend, Miss Hamilton, also of Freeport. Miss Hitchcock sang a solo in her usual attractive way for the Phidians and at the conclusion of the program the club's 44 members and guests adjourned to the Nachusa Tavern where high tea was served consisting of the following menu: bouillon, celery, wafers, olives, oyster patties, chicken, potato croquettes, cranberry jelly, hot rolls, shrimp salad, ice cream, cake and coffee.

Farewell Party.

The ladies of the Missionary and Aid societies of the United Grace Evangelical church met yesterday for an all day sewing bee at the church. There were 30 present and much work was accomplished during the day. Two comforters were tied and one quilt was finished. At noon a scramble dinner was served.
During the afternoon a farewell surprise was held for the secretary of the aid society, Miss Carrie Smith, who is soon to leave for the east to spend the winter. A short talk was made by Rev. Divan who in behalf of the guests presented Miss Smith with a purse. Another surprise was given her when Mrs. N. Mossholder in behalf of the officers of the Aid society, gave her a silver thimble, as a small token of their love and appreciation for the work she has done in the society. Miss Smith responded and thanked all for their gifts.
The ladies departed for their homes at a late hour wishing Miss Smith a very pleasant journey to the east.

The gifts consisted of table linen, cut glass, aluminum, silver and kitchen utensils, all of which will be very useful in her new home. She thanked her friends most heartily for their kind remembrances after which the evening was spent in music and games and a jolly time was reported. BRITAIN CLOSES THE NORTH SEA

New Policy in Fight Against German Mines.

STEP TAKEN FOR PROTECTION

should they break loose from their moorings they became harmless, nor were any steps taken to keep them under observation or to warn neutral shipping of possible danger.

All this, added the premier, was in flat contravention of the terms of The Hague convention of 1907.

Laid by Fishing Boats.

The majority of the German mines continued Mr. Asquith, were unquestionably laid by fishing boats sailing under neutral flags, as was proved by the fact that in the last week of October, they succeeded in laying a mine field to the north of Ireland, exactly in the track of merchant ships between America and Liverpool. Merchant ships were sunk and lives lost and but for the warnings given by British cruisers more damage must have been done. Such mines could not, of course, have been laid by vessels flying the German flag.

North Sea Military Area.

In order to cope with these illegal steps the British government has been forced to declare the whole of the North sea a military area and restrict all traffic across it to a narrow passage over which efficient supervision could be exercised. Although this step inevitably must result in delay and inconvenience, it was a small price to pay for the resulting security. The king's government was fully aware of the anxiety felt in the United States and other neutral countries on this subject and trusted that they would fully understand that its policy was purely to ensure that there should be no interference with neutral interests provided that the vital interest of Great Britain at stake in the present conflict be adequately maintained.

Must Find $2,676,250,000.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Lloyd George, in his financial statement, pointed out that there was a deficiency above the estimates of the year of no less than $1,697,750,000 and that owing directly to the war there was a loss of revenue amounting to $59,250,000. To meet this it was necessary to find $2,676,250,000.

As one means toward finding this sum the chancellor proposed at one blow to double the income tax, which, working on a sliding scale according to the amount of income has hitherto ranged from 3% to 8 1/3 per cent, with an added super-tax upon unearned income and those exceeding $15,000 per annum.

By this means the chancellor expects to raise a sum of $450,000,000 toward the expenses of the war in which all classes of the population will share except those having incomes of less than $800 a year which are and remain exempt.

Adds to Beer Tax.

In addition to this it is proposed to add an additional tax upon beer of 17 shillings and 3 pence, equivalent to approximately 1 cent a glass.

Allies Situation Improves.

Paris, Nov. 18.—Newspaper correspondents estimate that the German losses in the Franco-Belgian field have totaled 100,000 for the last four days of fighting. These figures are purely an overestimate, even allowing for the flood conditions that greatly increased the number of dead. But there seems good reason to believe that German attack along the line Nieupoit-Dixmude-Ypres has been checked, and that the situation has improved materially for the allies. The fighting has developed into an artillery duel. Weather conditions are making the life of the soldier in field and trench almost unbearable. Driving gales and sleet storms add their terrors to the hail of shrapnel, and pneumonia will be the strong ally of shot and shell in recruiting the ranks of death.

The afternoon communique says the allies have a foot hold in the village of Chauvencourt, near St. Mihiel, the sole supporting point of the Germans on the left bank of the Meuse.

GERMAN VICTORIES OVER RUSS CLAIMED

Berlin Says Losses of Czar Exceed Army Corps.

Berlin, Nov. 18.—Whether the latest German victories in the east have stopped the Russian advance can not be foretold, but undoubtedly they have resulted in giving the Germans an excellent strategic position, and at the same time increasing the difficulties of the enemy's position. The Russians near Soldau were driven through Lipno to Plock and the army defeated by General Hindenburg at Wloclawek was forced southward to Ktino instead of back upon the line of its advance. The Vistula is between the two Russian forces and is likely to prove a great barrier in case of further defeats.

The victory itself, it is declared, should not be overestimated, because it is not yet known whether it has brought the enemy to retreat or even to a standstill. The losses, excluding prisoners, exceed a whole corps, but it must not be forgotten that the Russians are operating in great force.

FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE.
In view of the recent outbreak of the foot and mouth disease in the Mississippi Valley, the most extensive as yet in the United States, an account taken from The Journal of the American Medical Association, of the principal features of the disease may be of interest. It is an acute, highly infectious disease, which occurs chiefly in cattle, sheep, goats and swine, though other animals such as the horse and dog, as well as certain wild animals are attacked also, any it may affect human beings. In animals it is characterized by an eruption in the mouth and on the feet, in some species more in the mouth, in others more on the feet. In cattle the incubation period averages from three to five days, whereupon a moderate fever with loss of appetite and other general symptoms sets in. In two or three days small blisters appear on the lining of the mouth, and now the fever usually subsides. At the same time one or more feet may show tenderness and swelling of the skin, soon blisters form here also, and the animal goes lame. In the mouth the blisters may reach half an inch or more in diameter, but usually they are smaller; the contents, at first clear, become turbid, and as the covering bursts, small painful raw spots are produced which either heal quite promptly or turn into ulcers that heal more slowly. Usually the milk is altered and reduced in quantity; blisters and ulcers may form on the udder. There is marked loss of weight, as the animals do not eat because of the pain. In this, the ordinary form, in which the death rate is very small among the young, the symptoms fade away in from ten to twenty days or so, except when local infections delay recovery, but there are also severe forms with extensive infection which frequently end in sudden death. In such severe cases ulcers are found in the stomach and intestines. In sheep and swine, lesions of the feet predominate.

The cause of the disease is present in the contents of the vesicles, the discharges from the ulcers, the saliva, the milk, the urine and feces, but as a rule not after the tenth day. It is stated that animals having had the disease may carry the virus for months. Any susceptible species may infect any other susceptible species. Infection occurs not only through direct contact, but also indirectly, as the virus retains its virulence for some little time, at least outside the body. Contamination of fodder, of stalls, of feeding and drinking troughs, of milk and milk products and of the hands and clothes of drovers serves to spread the disease, which often travels over very wide stretches of country with remarkable rapidity, as shown by the present outbreak. As from 25 to 50 per cent of the cattle exposed to infection may become sick, there results great loss from fall in the production of milk, from reduction of vitality and fecundity, and from deaths as well as on account of the measures adopted to stamp out the disease.

The immunity produced by an attack seems to be feeble, as animals are said to suffer more than one attack within a short time. So far no practical method of protective inoculation has been developed.

Our knowledge of the cause of foot and mouth disease is limited to the fact that it concerns a filterable virus as yet invisible and incultivable. It was in 1897 that Löffler and Frosch made their classical experiment, showing that the disease is caused by a living virus that passes filters which do not permit bacteria to go through an experiment that has served as a model for all the subsequent work on the many other forms of filterable virus recognized since then. Foot and mouth virus may remain active for months if kept cool and moist, but is destroyed rapidly by drying, by heat at 60° C. (140° F.) and above, by formaldehyde and by carbolic acid. The wide range of virulence of this virus among animal species has been indicated, and as stated, the disease may affect human beings, especially children, being transmitted by milk from diseased cows (experimentally verified) and by butter and cheese made from such milk as well as through wounds and in other way. While the course usually is favorable, an epidemic described by Segel had a mortality of 8 per cent. The manifestations are fever, digestive disturbances and eruptions on the lips and sometimes on the skin. Where there is danger of contamination of the milk with the foot and mouth virus, thorough pasteurization of all milk and milk products is doubly indicated.

A "DANGER ZONE" AROUND SCHOOLS.
The city council of Dixon did a most commendable thing when they decided to establish a "Quiet Zone" on the streets running near Katherine Shaw Bethel hospital. Thoughtless automobile drivers, the steam trains, boats on the river, etc., have in the past made the hospital a very noisy place, and of course it should be a very quiet place. We hope that the signs the city erect, on the streets near the institution, warning people they are in the vicinity of sick persons and to govern themselves accordingly, will be carefully heeded by all, and we are confident they will be.

The action regarding the hospital brings to mind the possibility of another move that would be along the same general lines and would do no harm and surely some good. Possibly a great deal of good. Why not establish a "Danger Zone" around the various schools, public or private, in the city? Our suggestion would be that on each corner, a block each way from every school, signs be placed warning drivers that they are approaching a school and to use care.

There is no more likely place for a careless auto driver to kill a half dozen boys and girls than in running past a school house. He might arrive there during recess or just when school is being dismissed, and the children stream out of the doorways on the run, onto the streets without paying much attention to danger that might be approaching.

Quiet is also necessary in the school rooms, and the sound of an automobile whirling past with muffler cut-out open is bound to make them look up and toward the windows, distracting their attention for a moment and interfering with their work.

These small details seem trivial, but on closer inspection, they amount to enough to deserve attention.

Every once in awhile Mexico, down her, bobs up to remind us that all is not serene in this quarter of the world. She is the only fly in the ointment in these parts now. A fellow can't have much ambition who wants to be president of Mexico.

SURE CURES.
Man might his malady endure, with grit, till death shall end it, but that each neighbor has a cure, and comes to recommend it. I have a spavin on my face, and all day long I feel it, and neighbors to my cottage chase, and tell me how to heal it. Says Old Bill Wax, "Relief I bring—just take and rub this salve in, for it will cure up anything from leprosy to 'spavin.' Old Jimpson comes and brings a jug of grease, and makes a plaster, and says, "Just put this on your mug, and you'll avert disaster." To tell me I should steam my head folks seek my lowly dwelling; one says a poultice made of bread will soon reduce the swelling; one has a cake of dark green soap possessing wondrous virtue; one brings a jar of noxious dope, and says, "It will not hurt you." And they regard me angry-eyed, their sympathy is ended, when I admit I haven't tried the cures they recommend. They jump upon me with a wealth of words and call me gudgeon; "You don't deserve the boon of health," they tell me in their dudgeon. The gods protect us, one and all, when we are sad and ailing, from tender-hearted folks who call with cure-alls unavailing!

ILLINOIS CRAZY MAN
"CONDEMNS" INDIANA
Escaped Lunatic Poses as U. S. Stock Inspector.

Muncie, Ind., Nov. 18.—"W. J. Skinner," who was arrested here Saturday charged with impersonating a United States live stock inspector, is an escaped lunatic from an asylum at Columbus. His real name is William Lemont and his home is at Bloomington, Ill., according to the local police. Officers here say they found a letter addressed to Lemont from his cousin, W. J. Skinner of Bloomington, Ill., in which the latter advised Lemont to give himself up and return to the asylum.

On Tuesday, Nov. 10, Lemont "condemned" the Indianapolis stock yards and ordered them closed. He appeared at several Indiana towns, "condemning" stock, and gave the federal and state authorities a chase for several days before he was caught.

When D. C. Rankin, deputy United States marshal, arrived here to take charge of Lemont the latter declared he knew nothing about the charges made against him. "This misrepresentation must stop," he said. "It is an outrage. I have not done anything wrong."

At Richmond, where Lemont was arraigned, he absolutely denied that he was the man the federal authorities were seeking. He said the man who was wanted had been with him and that his name, as he remembered it, was Lemont or Leyman, and that he last saw him in Union City. He said that with his companion's departure he missed a bill book containing more than $500 and his suitcase and trunk. "He left me with only $22," he added.

Lemont said his companion met him at Danville, Ill., last Monday and they proceeded to get drunk. He remembered going with him to Indianapolis, Columbus, Ind., Muncie and Union City.

TOURISTS.

A tourist is a person who learns geography by crawling over it with a guide book.

This is not always a successful process for the tourist. Many a tourist studies all his life at the rate of 2 cents per mile, third class and never learns the size and tonnage of the countries he has visited. But it is vastly beneficial to the geography which is traveled over by the tourist. A country which has enough tourists does not need to bother with factories and bond issues. One tourist will sup-

Notes

PRINCESS THEATRE

Tonight the Princess will show two big features. The first is entitled "In Old Italy," and is a Domino feature with Walter Edwards and Raymond Myers in the leading roles. This is an exciting drama of old world life. The scenes and acting are laid in Italy and in this picture you will see something new and full of realism. The other picture is entitled, "Paid With Interest," a Majestic drama with Robert Herron and Mae Marsh in leading roles. This is a strong character study featuring Mae Marsh and is a story of a young girl engaged to a boy but later throws him over for a broker. In the end the boy saves her life and she is only too glad to go back to him. These are two very fine features and fully deserve the patronage of everyone.

FAMILY THEATRE

Four reels of pictures will be shown at the Family this evening and the program, which is an excellent one, comprises the following subjects: The Masked Wrestler, in two parts; The Barrel Organ, which makes a barrel of fun and a barrel of money and Hearts of the Forest.

On next Monday night the management has secured Eugene Walter's great picture of "The Wolfe," in six reels. This picture is even more successful than the play which appeared here a few years ago.

AT THE OPERA HOUSE.

On tonight's program is a two reel L-Ko comedy entitled "Love and Surgery" this is something entirely new in the line of comedies and will surely be a treat for the patrons of the Opera House, it is a "scream" throughout. "The Wall of Flame," a Nestor drama, is in a class by itself, a perfect film. Concluding the program is "Her Life's Story" an exceptionally interesting Rex drama, making in all one of the "classiest" bills that he have shown. Next Saturday we are giving our patrons "some" program, six reels, including a most interesting and exciting western Warner feature, for the matinee. Our charge will be the same as usual, five cents; at night it will be necessary to charge ten cents, for adults and five for children, to defray the expense of this beautiful added feature.

OPERA HOUSE.

Pretty tunes and captivating songs occur constantly in "A Modern Eve," the remarkable Berlin musical success with which Mort H. Singer enchanted Chicagoans throughout an entire summer. This attraction which will be seen at the opera house next Sunday night, contains more song hits than any musical comedy presented in years. The alluring waltz song, "Goodbye Everybody," is in vogue all over the country and among the other effective songs are "Is the Girl You Married Still the Girl You Love? You're Such a Lonesome Moon, Rita, My Margarita; Every Day is Christmas When You're Married; Hello, Sweetheart; Won't You Smile and I'm Leaving Home, Papa.

JURY FAILS TO REACH A VERDICT

if she felt any emotion she very cleverly concealed it until she left the court room.

The jurors were particularly attentive and hung on the words of Mr. Stager but displayed no outward feelings as to how the picture affected them.

Works With Apron.

Mr. Stager then took the apron introduced by the defense as the one worn by Lillian Byers on the afternoon of July 9 and draping it over the form of States Attorney Ludens showed clearly how it would have been impossible to tear the weapon out of the pocket as Emma Hutton said she did, without tearing the pocket off the apron. The spot on the apron which Attorney Erbstein said was Emma's blood Mr. Stager said was a spot of mud and that the jurors could convince themselves of this when they reached the jury room and closely examined the apron.

Saucy Revolver.

The attorney took the weapon and showed the jurors that it was a safety and that unless it was held in a certain position it could not be fired and further that the person who used it would have to have time to learn its mechanism and it would be impossible for a woman in the condition that Emma Hutton said she was on the afternoon of July 9 to fire the weapon as she claimed that she had done.

Taking an ordinary four-tined pitch fork Mr. Stager said that the woman had testified that it was hurled as a javelin and times first. The pitchfork he had to demonstrate this he took in his hands and pointed it times first.

He maintained that if it had been thrown times first and had struck Emma as she claimed that the times would have torn the flesh and would have fallen in front of her as it came to the ground instead of falling behind her as was testified during the trial.

Discusses Mrs. Berlin.

Taking up the clothing worn on the day that Emanuel Byers was murdered and which are still stained with the blood from the wounds, Attorney Stager brought to the attention of the jury that Mrs. Berlin's testimony was to be doubted. First he showed that on the front of the overalls there was but one button missing and second he showed that the swirl of the shirt extended down on the body at least six inches below the waist line of the overalls as they appeared when worn on the deceased and that therefore it would have been impossible for any of his person to be exposed.

Dead Man's Shirt.

Next he took the blood-stained shirt and showed the jurors how one of the bullets had passed through the left sleeve of the shirt at the point indicated by Dr. Perry.

By the skirt of the shirt he showed how the bullets that pierced the abdomen had passed through the skirt of the shirt just at the point where Dr. Perry said it would have to enter to inflict the wounds that were found on the body by him after the shooting.

The testimony of Dr. Perry, Mr. Stager said, confirmed that of Merle Byers and Samuel Wechsler who said that the dead man stood at the bay rake when the first shots were fired and that he had raised his left hand thus accounting for the bullet wound in the palm of the hand and the one in the left forearm.

"Damnable Outrage."

Mr. Stager said that the two women had robbed the cradle and the grave to build up a story that would save their necks or a life term in prison as prescribed by the law and termed the bringing of the aged father to the witness stand to blacken the name of his own son as a damnable outrage.

The daughters, he said, had fired the bullets in the hay field last July that killed their brother and the father had fired the words out of his mouth on the witness stand to kill the character of the son who now reposes in the grave beside that of his mother.

No Self-Defense.

He said that one of the women had now taken upon herself the burden of the homicide and had set up that she had shot her brother in self-defense. He said that the defense, however, had not proven the self-defense and that the law did not permit the interposition of a self-defense plea to allow a person to shoot another down like a dog.

Emma Hutton, he said, had proved herself a foul-mouthed, brutal woman by her appearance on the stand and the awful language that she had used in delineating what her brother had said to her so that she might slay him in self-defense.

Lillian he termed as cold-blooded and heartless.

Each witness's testimony both on direct examination and upon cross examination was picked up a thread at a time and wound on a complete spool in order that the jurors might clearly see just why the sisters had slain their brother in the hay field according to the view of the prosecution.

During the close of the address of Judge Ward he called attention to the fact that if the sisters had made up their minds to have killed their brother they could have done it in the house where there were no witnesses.

In replying to this Mr. Stager stated that the girls testified that they had not seen the two boys in the hay field at the time of the tragedy and that this testimony offset the assertions of the attorneys that they might have slain their brother without witnesses being present.

As he completed his address, which lasted for nearly three hours, Mr. Stager was greeted by several of his fellow attorneys with nods and after court he was congratulated by many of them upon the able argument he had just put up.

Mr. Stager has worked long and faithfully upon the plea he made to the jury and in spite of his advanced age shows that he is still the master of criminal law that he was during the many years that he served the county as a prosecutor.

States Attorney Ludens and Judge H. C. Ward were also the recipients of many compliments during the day able arguments they put up.

Instruction to Jury.

Judge Graves' instructions to the jurors were lengthy and contained forms of verdicts that might be returned in the event that both of the sisters were found guilty of the murder, each were found guilty of manslaughter, one found guilty of manslaughter and the other of murder, one found guilty of murder and the other innocent, one found guilty of manslaughter and the other innocent or one finding both of the prisoners not guilty.

ESSAYS EMDEN ROLE;
KAISER'S SHIP FAILSCruiser Berlin Is Trapped and Compelled to Disarm.

Christiania, Norway, Nov. 18.—It was officially announced here that the disarmament of the German cruiser Berlin, which has put in at Trondhjem, has been begun.

The Berlin appeared off Trondhjem, which is on the northwestern coast of Norway, and well outside of the North sea. It was then reported that she was endeavoring to escape from the North sea to act as a commerce raider in the Atlantic, very much as the cruiser Emden did in the Indian ocean.

The Berlin has a crew of 450 men. Her commander was given the choice of putting to sea within twenty-four hours or submitting to disarmament. He chose the latter.

Presence of the cruiser well out of the North sea and 500 miles from German naval bases indicates she ran the gauntlet of the British patrol. That her commander chose not to come out of Trondhjem indicates the enemy in force awaited him outside the three mile limit. The Berlin is 24 feet long, with a speed of twenty-three knots and armament of ten four inch guns.

The Trey O' Hearts

Far better so: Judith felt she could not trust herself to say farewell to him without breaking down and confessing the utter wretchedness that threatened to overwhelm her each time she forced herself to face the thought that this parting must be final.

Like a thief she stole across the creaking floor to Alan's side, hesitated, bent her head to his and touched her lips to his cheek—a caress so light that he slept on in ignorance of it.

Then, as she lifted her head and stood erect, bosom convulsed with silent sobs, she looked squarely into the face of Rose.

CHAPTER LII.

The Old Adam.

A long minute elapsed before either woman moved or spoke.

Transfixed beside Alan's chair, steadying herself with a hand upon its back, Judith stared at the figure in the doorway, in a temper at once discomfited and defiant. With this she suffered a phase of incredulity, was scarce able to persuade herself that this was truly Rose who confronted her—Rose whose sweet and gentle nature had ever served as the butt of Judith's contempt and ruthless ridicule.

Here was revolution with a vengeance, when Rose threatened and Judith shrank!

It was as if the women had exchanged natures while they slept.

The countenance that Rose showed her sister was a thundercloud rent by the lurid lightning of her angry eyes. Her pose was tense and alert, like the pose of an animal set to spring. In her hand hung a revolver, the same (Judith's hand sought the holster at her hip and found it empty) that her sister had worn and forgotten to remove when she dropped, half-dead with fatigue, upon the bed.

And slowly, toward the end of that long, mute minute, the girl's grasp tightened upon the grip of the weapon and its muzzle lifted.

Remarking this, a flash of her one-time temper quickened Judith. Of a sudden, with a start, she crossed the floor in a single, noiseless stride, and threw herself before her sister.

"Well?" she demanded hotly. "What are you waiting for? Nobody's stopping you: why don't you shoot?"

The upward movement of the hand was checked: the weapon hung level to Judith's breast—as level and unequivocal as the glance that probed her eyes and the tone of Rose's voice as she demanded:

"What were you doing there?"

"If you must know from me what you already know on the evidence of your eyes—I was bidding good-by to the man I love—kissing him without his knowledge or consent before leaving him to you for good and all!"

"What do you mean?"

"That I'm going away—that I can't stand this situation any longer. Marjorie and Jimmy are dead, my father's helpless—and I mean to see that he remains so. Nothing, then, stands in the way of your marrying Alan but me. And such being the case—and because he's as dear to me as he is to you—I'm going to take myself off and keep out of the way."

"For fear lest he find out that you love him?"

Judith's lip curled. "Do you think him so witless he doesn't know that already?"

"And so you leave him to me out of your charity? Is that it?"

"Any way you like. But if it's so intolerable to you to think that I dare love him and confess it to you—if you begrudge me the humiliation of stooping to kiss a man who doesn't want my kisses—if you are so afraid of losing him while I live and love him—very well, then!"

With a passionate gesture Judith tore open the bosom of her waist, offering her flesh to the muzzle of the revolver.

A cry broke from the lips of Rose that was like the cry of a forlorn child punished with cruelty that passes its understanding. She fell back against the wall. The revolver swept up through the air—but its mark was her own head rather than Judith's bosom.

But before her finger found strength to pull the trigger the man at the table, startled from his sleep by the sound of angry voices, leaped from his chair with a violence that sent it clattering to the floor, and hurried himself headlong across the room, imprisoning the wrist of his betrothed with one hand while the other wrested the weapon away and passed it to Judith.

"Rose!" he cried thickly, "what does this mean? Are you mad? Judith—"

Dragging the bosom of her waist together, Judith thrust the weapon into its holster and turned away.

"Be kind to her, Alan," she said in an uncertain voice. "She didn't understand—and I goaded her beyond endurance, I'm afraid. Forgive me—but be kind to her always!"

Somewhat blindly, she stumbled out of the cabin into the open, possessed by a thought whose temptation was stronger than her powers of resistance. What Rose had failed to accomplish might now serve to resolve Judith's problem. . . . None, she told herself, bitterly, would seek to hinder her. But she meant to arrange the matter that none should see or suspect and be moved to interfere.

Round the shoulder of the mountain, on the road along the edge of the cliff, she was sure of freedom from observation.

LYMAN H. HOWE SHOWS FASCINATING FILMS OF HABITS, HABITATS and APPEALING ANTICS OF BIRD LIFE.

An amazing insight into the family life of wild birds is afforded by a remarkable film to be presented by Lyman H. Howe at the Opera House on Thursday evening, Nov. 19.

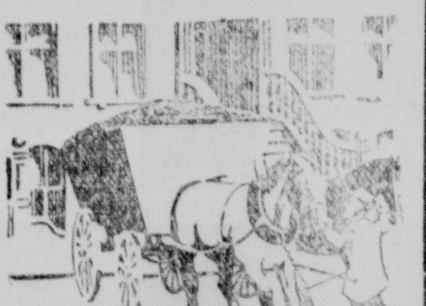

These reproductions of the shy, timid and wary creatures were secured only by exercising infinite patience and extraordinary skill and resourcefulness. The mother bird's solicitude for the welfare of her young and the absolute confidence of the latter are shown with a fidelity and naturalness that are most appealing. Weeks of patient waiting were necessary to familiarize the mother bird with the camera before her natural distrust for human intrusion could be overcome. Another distinct photographic triumph of this film is that which "caught" the kingfisher at the moment of diving for a fish, capturing it, and then enjoying his repast—though with considerable effort. Then there are brightly hued woodpeckers "at home"—looking askance out of an old tree trunk, the fascinating shrike, the astute mag-pit, a "singing lesson" with young crows as pupils, young ducklings, graceful swans and a heron in flight. The film comprises the finest examples of bird life in natural colors that could be imagined.

A descent into the crater of Vesuvius, pictorial pilgrimages through Venice, Greece, France, India and Arabia, wonders of submarine life, the growth of plants and flowers, European horsemanship and cavalry manoeuvres, a new ride on a runaway train, are a few of the other big features including entirely new animated cartoons.

An "Old Fashioned Party" was held last evening at the Presbyterian church parlors. The Christian Endeavors entertained the church congregation from eight to ten. The old time costumes were plentiful and every old time style seemed to be present. A musical program was given containing old-time favorites. Refreshments of doughnuts, pumpkin pie and coffee were served. All joined in singing a farewell hymn after spending a happy evening together.

The inclemency of the weather Sunday kept Mr. Bailey from filling the pulpit Sunday evening at the Methodist Episcopal church. A large audience was disappointed by his non-appearance.

QUIT MEAT IF YOUR KIDNEYS ACT BADLY

Take tablespoonful of Salts if Back hurts or Bladder bothers—Drink lots of water.

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well-known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active.

STARVATION FACING MINERS IN ILLINOIS

Gov. Dunne Is Asked to Urge Owner to Open Works.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 18.—Governor Edward F. Dunne was asked to intercede with W. E. Peabody of Chicago, to open his coal mines at Witt, Ill., by a committee from Witt. They were accompanied to the governor's office by United States Senator Lawrence Y. Sherman, Congressman Jas. M. Graham of the Twenty-first district, and Congressman-elect Loren E. Wheeler of this district.

The committee stated to the governor that 600 miners in Witt are destitute and with no prospect of work facing them are slowly starving to death with their families. The town of Witt has a population of 2,500, is dependent on the miners and mines for its existence, and if the mines do not resume work will be wiped off the map. Governor Dunne promised the committee to take the matter up with the Peabody company at once.

HEARD IN DIXON

HOW BAD BACKS HAVE BEEN MADE STRONG—KIDNEY PILLS CORRECTED.

All over Dixon you hear it. Doan's Kidney Pills are keeping up the good work. Dixon people are telling about it—telling of backs made sound again. You can believe the testimony of your own townspeople. They tell it for the benefit of you who are suffering. If your back aches, if the kidneys act too frequently, or passages are painful, scanty or off color, use Doan's Kidney Pills, the remedy that has helped so many of your friends and neighbors. Follow this Dixon citizen's advice and give Doan's a chance to do the same for you.

Mrs. J. Helfrich, R. F. D. No. 4, Dixon, says: "While I have never taken Doan's Kidney Pills myself I can strongly recommend them and I am glad to confirm the public statement one of my family gave in their praise some years ago. For a long time he suffered from irregular action of his kidneys. He also had a backache and found relief only when he used Doan's Kidney Pills, that he got at Leake Bros' Drug store. They stopped the pain and restored his kidneys to a normal condition."

Mrs. Helfrich is only one of many Dixon people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy, ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mrs. Helfrich recommends—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50c all stores.
